- All data is encrypted both in-flight and at-rest
- Anti-virus, anti-malware, and intrusion detection
- Real-time backups to a secondary Microsoft Azure location

We completely understand the importance of protecting student data. Our team undergoes annual FERPA compliance training to ensure that all employees know how to handle information requests from applicants and their guardians.

HOW MUCH DOES AWARDSPRING COST?

If your organization, foundation, association, college, or university administers one or more scholarships, there's a version of AwardSpring that's right for you.

AwardSpring's two versions—NOW and PRO—are both priced based on the number of scholarship opportunities managed by your organization. We've found that this is the fairest, most accurate way to cover our support and hosting costs while offering a good value to the institutions we serve.

PRO

AwardSpring PRO is a fully featured version of our platform, designed to serve colleges, universities, and other institutions with robust scholarship programs that include more than five awards. In addition to streamlining your entire scholarship management process, AwardSpring PRO can help support your institution's long-term strategies in fund utilization, donor engagement, fundraising, and more. AwardSpring PRO starts at $3,999 per year for 1-10 scholarships.

NOW

AwardSpring NOW is a cost-effective, flexible solution for businesses, small foundations, and other organizations that administer five or fewer awards. AwardSpring NOW has slimmed down features and functionality at a lower price for organizations that don't need enterprise-level scholarship administration support. AwardSpring NOW starts at $99 per month.
